Portrait of Karsh Close-Up of a Celebrated Canadian

Forty-nine year old Yousuf Karsh, who came to Canada from Armenia 35 years ago, stands today as one of the master portrait photographers of the world. He first achieved international recognition with his pictures of World War II leaders which form part of his collection of notables in "Faces of Destiny". Far from standing in awe of his subjects, Karsh is usually able to calm the more irascible with his own persuasiveness. Said Churchill after he had grudgingly allotted him a few moments for his portrait: "he can make a roaring lion stand still". Czechoslovakia's revered President Benes described him as "a formidable fellow, the only dictator I ever listened to."

Although his volume of work has steadily increased as his name spread round the globe, Karsh still finds time to keep a close check on the important processing steps in darkroom and laboratory. Many professionals say they can spot a Karsh photograph by the quality of the print alone.

Karsh, whose favourite form of exercise is a fast game of tennis, enjoys a quiet evening with his wife in their modern pink stucco home on Ottawa's tranquil Rideau river. A film recently produced in Canada highlights Karsh's photographic techniques and presents a galaxy of his most memorable portraits.

Mr. Blund will represent Saskatchewan at the National Road-race in Medicine Hat, Alberta in July.

Karsh began his career at the age of 15 apprenticed to an uncle in Sherbrooke, Que., later made Ottawa his headquarters. It was here he met his wife, Solange, whose keen interest in gardening helps fill the hours when Karsh is away on one of his frequent photographic tours.

Karsh spends a morning in his Ottawa office with his secretary who reads his mail aloud to him. Years ago, when he was debating where to set up shop, Karsh chose Canada's capital, predicting it would become an important crossroads of the world, later as the world's great gathered here "Karsh of Ottawa" photographed them.

In-a-hurry driver target of drive

The "in-a-hurry" driver will find himself the target of an international campaign to reduce traffic deaths this summer. Beginning June 1, Canada and the United States, with Puerto Rico participating as well, will conduct an intensive "Slow Down and Live" drive. Police, governments, safety organizations, industry and many other groups will co-operate in this campaign against the motorist who attempts to use all the tricks he knows to get farthest fast.

The campaign will aim its guns at the driver who cuts into traffic, fails to stop at intersections, jumps traffic-control signals and generally drives as a menace to other drivers and pedestrians. The heart of the campaign will attempt to make each individual motorist realize that he is the offender, not the other motorist, and the danger, appearing behind a picture of a surprised-looking vehicle operator, will read, "Who? Me!", with the reply, "Yes, you!"

This is Canada's second year to participate in the "Slow Down and Live" campaign, sponsored nationally here by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference. As last year, the 1956 effort will run through the summer vacation months of June, July and August and as official Provincial Safety Director will co-ordinate the activities in each province, providing assistance as well to the community safety councils where they exist.

In 1957, the over-all record of highway fatalities in Canada did not decrease as compared to the same 1956 period. However, traffic deaths dropped, during the summer, in five provinces as well as in 28 states and Puerto Rico. Said W. Arch. Bryce, general manager of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, national spokesman in Canada of "Slow Down and Live", "With the Canadian motorist and walking public becoming more and more aware of the perils of traffic and taking precautions to avoid those perils we can hope for a definite reduction in highway deaths this summer. However, as our chairman, Hon. Gordon Taylor has pointed out, the only way this can be done is for the individual driver and pedestrian to do it. He cannot leave it to the other fellow and expect to be safe himself."
